

Doubleheader Here Labor Day

The attorney's statement has a patently obvious flaw: the fact that a statute was passed at a public hearing, Sept. 16, 1993, does not constitute a finding of fact. The public hearing was held in a public hearing room, with the following agenda:

The Moose Lodge has leased the upstairs rooms for lodge and club purposes. An outside entrance is being constructed for their convenience.

Board of Aeromarine in Gravelly, the sole proprietor of the Gravelly Aero and Marine Co. is a group of aviation enthusiasts. Mr. R. B. Johnson have many friends. Gravelly, the former mayor, were some years ago on his work. They are making headquarters at St. Stephen Inn.

CHAPMAN, AUSTIN, and FRIEDMAN • THE EFFECT OF CHLADY

Hoesli and Böhlers, last summer, interviewed nearly 200 persons who seek visas for a trip to the U.S. They identified 19 different states.

Wednesday evening a farewell meeting was held in honor of Dr. J. F. Cook, former club president, who is leaving here soon at Pine Ridge Lodge.

A SAFEGUARD FOR DEMOCRACY

Where democracy has been crushed, taxes are exacted from citizens, yet these citizens are not permitted to know what is done with the money they pay.

In The Avalanche subscribers will find publication of the proceedings and reports of various public offices. With such a public accounting there can be no question regarding the integrity of public officials, for honest officials are always anxious that a public accounting of funds should be made as often as is necessary to vindicate any accusation that might be wrongfully made against them.

Now and then there is some discussion as to whether the proceedings of the county board of supervisors, councils, school boards and similar organizations should be published in the local home newspaper. Some persons think that the small cost of publication of such matters should be saved to the taxpayer.

Many years ago when this government was much younger than it is today, this matter was discussed and considered from every angle. After much careful consideration it was determined that legal advertising is the cheapest and most effective insurance the taxpayers can obtain on the ability and integrity of their elected officials. And from the officials' viewpoint, it constitutes proof of their honesty and integrity in office.

Public printing of receipts and expenditures relieves all question in the minds of the public as to the integrity of an official.

Henry Woolfenden, Jr., executive secretary, State Bar of Michigan, emphasized this point
recently when he declared:
"Legal advertising is the cheapest and most effective insurance
the taxpayers can buy on the
ability and integrity of their elected officials." He also added:
"The public accounting notice is the best protection which the taxpayer has against incompetent or unscrupulous public officials."

It is important that you read all public notices or legal advertising carefully. In a democracy
a good citizen needs to be well informed.

Had Enjoyable Trip Out West

A letter received from Mr. and Mrs. John Hodge of Highland Park tells of a two months auto trip in the west, that they enjoyed in company with Mrs. Hodge's sister Mrs. Henry St. Marys and husband of Detroit. It tells so many interesting things that we are pleased to print it as follows:

Highland Park, Mich.
Aug. 20, 1940

Dear Friends:

Can hardly describe what a grand trip we had. We saw so many beautiful places and things that it is unbelievable to tell what it was like. We went 8000 miles and not a flat tire or a bit of trouble. We first went to Harrison, Arkansas, and were there for the Fourth of July. We saw those Merrimac Caves in Missouri before we got there however, then we went down through El Paso, Texas. Were going over to Mexico but it was the day after that election trouble and the border was closed so we couldn't go over.

We went up through New Mexico; there the people are all Spanish. We stayed in a little town called Sucon about 50 miles from Albuquerque. We saw the painted desert and the Grand Canyon; stayed at the Grand Canyon overnight and could hear the coyotes howl all night down in the canyon, which is about 3 1/2 miles down. Nothing but solid rock, but one consolation we knew they couldn't get up. We were there in time to see the Indians do their dance. Every night they come out and dance at six o'clock and they pray for rain. We also saw the Petrified Forest; that was before we came to the Grand Canyon.

Then we went to Boulder Dam.
It was a beautiful sight. The guides took us through; it takes about an hour. We went down in an elevator 40 stories. There is enough concrete cement in that dam to make a driveway from Florida to Los Angeles. We were at Boulder Dam about 8 o'clock at night and the temperature was 120 degrees. We stayed at Las Vegas that night; got started early in the morning to get through the desert before it got too warm. We ate our breakfast at Baker; that is supposed to be the hottest place on the desert.
It is just a few miles past the road that goes into Death Valley.
It was about 7 o'clock and the temperature was 106 degrees.

We went through San Bernard-ina in to Compton, found Ernie (Hodge) and Ann and family all well. Erin had a week's vacation so we were on the go all the while we were there. We were at Nellie and Jake Letzkus' home for a turkey dinner; there were only 24 people there. Frank Shanahan was there and George Mc-Peak's family. We didn't see much of George McPeak as he had to go to Catalina Island on a convention.

We saw Mrs. John Olsen, formerly of Grayling. Lillie McPeak had us over on Monday night with all former Grayling people there. Jake visited us every night we were there. Every time you saw Jake and John (Hodge) they were almost sitting on each other's lap, talking their heads off.

We saw lots of grape vineyards, lemon, grapefruit, walnut and pecan groves. We saw the large-est fish cannery in the world at Terminal Island on the ocean,
and the Navy fleet and the Federal prison at Terminal Island.

On Sunday we visited Roy Newton's brother in Santa Monica. That is a very nice city.
When we left Compton we went to Santa Barbara and on to San Luis Obispo. The next day
we visited the Fair at San Francisco; were over to Oakland, California and went across the Golden Gate bridge.

We went through the redwoods in California and that is a wonderful place. We also stopped at their "mystery trees"

that were in Ripley's "Believe It or Not" a while ago. We stopped at the Eureka Woolen Mills in California and bought a woolen blanket as it was my birthday.
I can't say that there was a night
that we camped in our tent on our trip that we didn't nearly freeze and we each had three blankets with us.

We visited some old friends at Portland, Oregon and went to the dog races there. That Old Oregon Trail is sure a wonderful drive; went by Horsetail Falls.
The drive is along the Columbia river and went through Bonneville Dam. Visited Mr.
and Mrs. Williams, originally from Lewiston, at Spokane, Washington, and we also met some people visiting there from Mio.

After we left Washington we came down through Idaho and saw many silver and gold mines,
and also saw the largest lumber mill, at Missoula, Montana. Went through Butte, Montana (they call the town the Million Dollar Hill).

Came through the west entrance into Yellowstone Park;
stayed there two days, saw Old Faithful; that is a wonderful sight. Every 67 minutes the boiling water shoots up in the air 150 feet. Also saw the sulphur springs and hot springs.

Where we camped at Yellowstone Park that night, about 100 feet from us, the Forest Rangers came and set a trap for a bear that was molesting people; it would chase people away from their tables and eat all their food;
but the next morning they had
him. After we left Yellowstone Park we drove around on Mt.
Hood and were 11,987 ft. above sea level. We could get out of the car and pick up snow, then about an hour later we were down where the temperature was
112. We came through North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin,
down through the Upper Peninsula and visited my dad and brother, Lester, at Marquette.
Stopped at Lewiston a couple of days to make the trip complete.

Floss and Jack Hodge.

as a new flight service.

GENERAL HUGH S. JOHNSON

A VISIT WITH WILLKIE

COLORADO SPRINGS.—It puts a columnist on a spot to be invited by a presidential candidate to give his (the columnist's) views on public questions to be taken or rejected as the candidate sees fit. It is a spot because a newspaper man's job is to take—not give—opinions, and to use what he can glean to inform the public. In this reversal of roles, I can't be talking about Mr. Willkie's views, as disclosed in two long sessions here, because he has to be absolutely fair to the press, and that means no favorites or exclusive interviews. I can't for another reason, which is that he is my friend and talks in as complete confidence as a man would indulge in with his own brother.

The net result from a newspaper man's viewpoint of a 3,200-mile airplane hop to interview Mr. Willkie is just like taking a dish of spinach to a luxurious banquet or being invited to dig freely in a diamond mine with a pair of eyebrow tweezers.

It's a spot, but his Colorado Springs setting on the toenails of the Rockies at Pike's Peak, is one of the most pleasant and beautiful spots on God's footstool, so I think I can survive the mental anguish.

It is telling no tales to say, from observation here and elsewhere, that Mr. Willkie is surely continuing the process of selling himself on sight. Little Mary Pickford, who had lunch with us, went away in raptures. She has marvelously preserved her stature in public respect and adoration—and otherwise. She is going to be a help.

If enough potential crusaders like Mary can meet Mr. Willkie in such circumstances, his lack of an old-fashioned political organization won't count for so much.

There is no question of his appeal and political "It" in personal contacts, whether it is with single individuals or in crowds. He has all that it takes. What remains to be seen, is what he can do on the radio and the content of his speeches. The Republican platform was so indefinite that Mr. Willkie will have to chart the party course almost single-handed. It is some chore!

The Republicans were leading at this stage of the 1936 campaign, but from the very day of Mr. Landon's undistinguished opener at West Middlesex they started on a toboggan slide that left them two states. Mr. Landon's theme was: The New Deal is perfect, but I can deal it better. That left no issue, save one of personalities. As between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Landon, that was just no contest.

There will be a contest in that field this time. Some people say that in his engaging exterior, Mr. Willkie is just another Roosevelt. Nothing could be further from the truth. The only point of similarity is that they are both pleasant gentlemen. Mr. Roosevelt's charm is that of a cultured actor. Mr. Willkie's is far more roughshod and homely. I believe that most people will regard it as more genuine.

But he is going to need more than that. He will have to make issues far more clear than they are today and convince people that his is the right side.

One handicap of Mr. Landon was that Col. Frank Knox and Ogden Mills were speaking with him—but not the same language.

Mr. Willkie may have a similar problem. Mr. Hoover is going to make at least two speeches. He is a thoughtful, experienced and respected American, but Mr. Hoover's speeches represent Mr. Hoover's doctrine and nothing else whatever. They will be attempts not to sell Willkie, but to sell the present edition of Hooverism—which may be something as different as Knox and Mills from Alfred Landon.

That would be one great handicap and there are many others. However, Mr. Willkie's life habit has been overcoming seemingly impossible handicaps, like getting a Democrat nominated on a Republican ticket. None of these new ones compares with that. Let's wait and see.

TRAINING PILOTS

Unconfirmed stories about the Germans sending partly trained boys to attack in flights, relying on only one or two ships equipped with modern instruments and piloted by really trained leaders may be true. They also may explain the astonishing British claims of bringing down three or four German ships for every one they lose.

That is too expensive a policy, and we certainly do not want to risk cities, ships, convoys—not to mention young lives and costly planes—on that kind of training.

The Civil Aeronautics administration is exerting great efforts to get some interest and primary training into young men by subsidizing older pilots to train them—at so much a head—for eight hours with dual control. Then the kid goes up solo.

After that he has 22 hours—altogether 30. He isn't supposed to be a pilot, but to have had his primary training—$325 worth.

Will the army and navy entrust its expensive military ships to these boys? Almost certainly no.

Work has begun on the fire-place and screened porch of the technical service barracks. A veteran from Camp AuSable is on detached service to this camp for the purpose of supervising the general construction and cutting the stone for the project on the fireplace. The date of completion of this project is at present undetermined.

Charles W. Stilwell, senior engineering draftsman, has been visiting camps in the lower peninsula in the immediate vicinity and securing camp pictures and also photographs of the work projects. Up to the present time he has visited but a few, and during these visits he has secured some very interesting photos. He has as yet to visit a number of camps here in the surrounding territory.

Educational News

The summer schedule of classes began July 15th with several new classes added to the curriculum. Classes in house wiring, plumbing, elementary Spanish, marriage and family relationship are popular with the enrollees this quarter. A class in orientation is being held each week and is compulsory for all new recruits.

Walter Eldred is organizing a staff to publish a camp newspaper and this edition is the first attempt at such a venture and will be out in the near future.

As a part of the educational program in this company, intelligence tests will be given to all enrollees in the near future. All new recruits took these tests during the month of July.

The following enrollees received Eighth Grade certificates during the month of June: Gerald Caryl, Elwin Fisher, Herman Vander Heide, Arnold Kloosterman, Buthel Kent and Allen Williamson.

Camp Higgins Lake awarded thirty Eighth Grade diplomas during the last fiscal year. There are ten enrollees working for eighth grade diplomas at the present time and these men should earn their diplomas by the end of September. It is the desire of the Camp Educational committee that all enrollees who have not completed the eighth grade, should do so during their enrollment period.

Seventy-seven unit certificates were awarded enrollees for completing 12 hours or more of instruction during the last quarter ending June 30th.

Twenty-seven proficiency certificates were awarded to the following enrollees in camp jobs: Teaching (First Aid)—Andrew Rasmussen.

Nursery Operation—Leo Jarloenski, Vernon Campbell, Lloyd Millering, Henry Smith, Lester Gillette, Vernon Smith, William Hilwera, Garret Bailey.

Leads—Joseph Pollard, Leo Jarloenski.

Warehousing—Malcolm Mes-ton, John Gradowski, Burdette Smith.

Truck Driving—Darwin Stilwell, Joseph Kochanowski, Donald Green.

Machine Operation—Joseph Dockery.

Teaching (General Forestry)—Arthur Rochester.

Cooking—Clifford Childers, Ray DeVoss, Bruno Sachet.

Baking—Ray DeVoss.

First Aid Attendant—Andrew Rasmussen.

Walter Eldred and Allen Hard received the Educational Certificate for completion of 144 hours of instruction. There have only been six of these certificates awarded in the history of this company.

Non-partisan News Letter
Michigan Press Association
By GENE ALLEMAN

Lansing. Decentralization of the 1940 presidential campaign will be one result of the federal Hatch Act limiting national committee expenditures to $3,000,000.

Michigan party leaders have been advised not to look to national headquarters for financial aid. If money is to be spent in Michigan to elect President Roosevelt it must be Michigan raised funds.

The Republican national committee has relayed word that Willie assists in a strict compliance to the spirit of the Hatch act, and when you recall that the Republicans in 1936 spent $8,893,000 to the Democrats $5,651,000, this "party politics" restriction begins to hurt. Henry P. Fletcher, counsel for the Republican national committee, has opined that the law's limit of $3,000,000 per campaign and $5,000 per individual contribution applied only to national committees. Willie, a newcomer in politics, brushed aside the Fletcher opinion with a flat declaration that "all" campaign expenditures should not exceed the three million mark. It left p listeners gasping.

One net result, as already noted, will be the placing of more financial responsibility on the state central committee of the two leading parties. National and regional headquarters will lend a helping hand and free advice, but that's about all.

Pay-roll Prohibition

In several respects, the 1940 campaign will establish historic precedents.

First, we have the astonishing situation whereby a former Democrat is running for president on the Republican ticket, while a former Republican is running for vice-president on the Democratic ticket. Other evidences of coalition in politics are the participation by two staunch Republicans—Stimson and Knox—in the Roosevelt cabinet at Washington. (Willkie-batter Ickes was a Roosevelt Progressive in 1912). Senator Vandenberg's persistent cry for coalition in 1940 has a strange echo in contemporary events.

This daring disregard for traditional party responsibility has secretly disturbed many Michigan party die-hards.

Verily, the parties of Lincoln and Jackson would not recognize themselves in 1940.

Second, we have the reverse of the custom under of politics wherein pay-roll employees are expected to carry the torch. The Hatch act, which was supported vigorously by President Roosevelt, makes it a violation for any one of the nearly 1,000,000 federal government employees to engage in political activity. This extends even to state departments which receive federal aid from Washington. It prompted the resignation of G. Dan Kennedy as Michigan deputy highway commissioner for the duration of the vote getting drive. Kennedy is one of 500,000 employees in state governments who are thus affected.

Politicians cannot make use of the "per cent club" device whereby a percentage of pay roll quotas is collected monthly for political purposes.

This office was a time honored source of raising campaign funds, suggested in Indiana by Paul McNutt, a federal administrator. It has been used in Michigan in the past by both Republicans and Democrats. The foundations of political machine are pay roll workers.

Individual Donations

The $5000 ceiling on individual donations is not expected to work any handicap on Michigan state central committees. Neither is the "restriction" of $3,000,000 for the state campaign, for there still is a Chinaman's chance of raising even one-tenth of this amount.

A third restriction makes it unlawful for any contractor doing work for the federal government to contribute any amount to a political party. Here is a reform extraordinary, as any politician will admit. If it were extended into Michigan state politics, campaign funds would probably have to be put on a public subsidy basis unless citizens came to the rescue with greater pocketbook participation in party affairs.

There is no question but that the ideal state of political affairs would be a willingness of all citizens to make individual party contributions.

This would entail not only a desire to vote in the primary election, when good government is actually determined, but in the November election when the choice of future officials is usually passed down to two major parties.

How much did you contribute to the 1936 campaign fund? If you did not, who do you suppose furnished the money? You can "bet your own" answers.

A Remedy

David Lawrence, editor of the United States News, a weekly magazine at Washington devoted to affairs of government, offers this suggestion:

"First of all he (the citizen) should contribute to either party through a regularly established political committee. If he feels that this is not sufficient and wants to carry on an individual campaign in excess of $50 (only in case such activity extends 'in two or more states') he can do so, but he should not distribute literature or statements that have not already been sent out by the respective headquarters."

Next after the individual contribution has been made, the citizen should offer his services as a volunteer worker. There is no prohibition in the law against man-hours by volunteers.

In the judgment of this veteran Washington observer, "the 1940 campaign will probably include more persons actively engaged in campaigning than ever has been known in American politics. This is a healthy sign. The Hatch Act in this respect may accomplish affirmatively more for American democracy than negatively by prohibition of the scandalous misuse of public office and public funds."

In Michigan such political contributions by check or money-order may be mailed directly to "Treasurer, (Name of Party) State Central Committee, Lansing, Mich." Roosevelt and Willie campaigns in Michigan will be financed nearly 100 per cent by Michigan raised funds.

WPA and Election

If the record of other campaign years is any indication, this fall should see a sharp increase in federal spending for WPA. In 1936 expenditures in August totaled $153,000,000, in October $180,000,000. In 1938 expenditures in January were $193,000,000, in October $207,000,000.

Congress appropriated $975,000,000 to support WPA this year and furthermore, provided that this sum may be spent in eight months instead of twelve.

It may be just coincidence that the rise in WPA jobs and WPA spending will take place just before the election. Apparently there is nothing in the Hatch act to prevent this indirect influence on the election of public officials.

Good Vision Vital To Child Welfare

Educators in the United States are paying increasing attention to the visual equipment of children, for studies have demonstrated repeatedly that visual defects not only retard the acquisition of knowledge, but they may breed undesirable social qualities according to M. J. Julian, president of the Better Vision Institute.

"Extensive studies have shown that two important factors are involved in defective vision: (1) the physical and (2) the mental. A child who cannot see well cannot read and carry on his tasks easily at school. Correcting such defects naturally facilitates education of children. However, says Mr. Julian, the eyes have an important effect upon the nervous system and the mental states of the child. Headaches and nervous irritability are caused by defective eyes. Frequently undesirable social habits, including juvenile delinquency, can be traced to uncorrected visual defects. Poor eyes definitely tend to make 'difficult children' out of some youngsters. Several authorities go so far as to say that failure to correct visual defects in children is an important factor in truancy. One calls attention to the fact that a substantial part of the inmates of reform schools have defective vision. He points out that a child who cannot see well finds it difficult to adjust himself with others and frequently becomes a rebellious child.

"Eyesight surveys have indicated that about 20 out of every 100 school children in the United States have visual defects, many of which are uncorrected. Thus it would appear that the visual welfare of children is one of the outstanding problems of American education today."

LABOR DAY

September 2, 1940

Labor Day a holiday set aside for the nation to pay tribute to its "workers." Some $5,000,000 Americans fall within the classification of labor. What place in the ranks of labor do they all fill? Do they remain "laborers" all their lives? Can a man or woman really "rise the ranks"? These pictures tell the story.

Largest group of laborers toil on the nation's farms, in agricultural pursuits. Here over 11,500,000 workers earn their daily bread. Inset shows Henry Ford, who like many another U. S. industrial leader was born and raised on an American farm. Fifteen years old, he left farm.

Next in numbers to agricultural laborers come the 10 1/2 million workers employed in the various manufacturing plants of the nation. Inset shows J. C. Penny, owner of 1,200 chain department stores, started his career as a general store clerk.

"Service industries" come next, 9,500,000 workers falling within this category, which includes all types of personal and public service jobs. Irving Berlin (inset) noted U. S. song writer and composer of the patriotic favorite, "God Bless America," was once a "singing waiter."

BEARS PEEK INTO TOURISTS' AUTOS

Eight brown bears of assorted sizes, daily visitors to CCC Camp Cusino, are proving to be almost as great an attraction to tourists this summer as the deer and moose which are kept in pens at the Cusino wildlife experiment station operated by the conservation department.

The bears are losing their fear of humans and supply tours with thrills as they approach cars, sometimes standing erect to look inside.

Highway Men Study Army Transportation

Five state highway department engineers this week spent three days at Camp McCoy, Wis., where they studied battle maneuvers of war games being conducted by the Second Army.

Murray D. VanWagoner, highway commissioner, said he arranged with commanding Army officers for the visit. Guides were provided for the engineers, who studied the movement of military equipment and troops, the motorized facilities employed and the effect on roads used.

"Modern mechanized armies are of little value unless roads, bridges and airfields are adequately constructed and maintained," Van Wagoner pointed out.

"Our current highway construction program lays heavy stress on facilities recommended by the War Department, and I want our road engineers to have first-hand knowledge of actual wartime requirements."

Several highway department war veterans have proposed that department employees be organized into National Guard construction and maintenance companies, Van Wagoner said, and be given field service training as part of combat units in the war maneuvers.

"I have asked various department heads to go thoroughly into the possibility of this proposal," Van Wagoner declared.

Department officials who observed the war games at Camp McCoy are B. R. Downey, maintenance engineer; W. H. Harvie, road engineer; L. W. Millard, bridge engineer; Fred C. Taylor, planning survey director, and Al Malo, acting traffic and safety director.

Application blanks may be obtained from these offices or by writing to the State Civil Service Commission, Lansing. Candidates must have had courses in typing or stenography.

Virginia Buys Oyster Shells. Oyster shells aggregating 303,500 bushels and costing $8,710 have been purchased by the Virginia commission of fisheries for distribution over the depleted oyster bottoms of Tidewater Virginia.

These shells will be moved and planted by the Work Projects administration as part of the state program financed jointly by the WPA and by the commission, through its bushel and gallon tax on oysters.

A large number of the shells will be planted in the Rappahannock river, which is in the most unfavorable condition of any river in the state, from the standpoint of oyster growth, according to commission surveyors.

Pity the Poor Geography Teacher!

School opens—and with it what a headache for the geography teacher. Sudden changes in the boundaries of a dozen European countries caused by Hitler's military successes and Stalin's expansion movement have rendered geographies and atlases out of date. And the result? "It's a headache," says Mrs. Virginia Rongart, a teacher in the Cook county public schools near Chicago, who is pictured above.

Canoeists prepare to make camp along the Muskegon river in Houghton Lake state forest. The forestry division of the Michigan department of conservation maintains three canoe camps in this forest and increasing popularity of canoes among vacationers is expected to result in the supplying of similar sites along other streams as the department presses its program of lake and stream frontage acquisition as a guarantee that fishermen and vacationers will forever have access to Michigan's inland waters.

Lt. Governor Office Very Important

People of Michigan do not have to be told how important the office of lieutenant governor is to the state. As one commentator remarked, only a heart beat stands between that office and the governorship, itself.

Of the eight candidates seeking nomination for this important office on the Republican ticket at the coming primary election, there is one whom we personally know has the necessary qualifications.

That man is Elton R. Eaton, editor of the Plymouth Mail and a representative in the state legislature from Wayne county.

During the years we have known Mr. Eaton, he has never straddled an important issue; has kept himself entirely free from any suspicion of dishonesty; has demonstrated time and again that he is a hard worker and a determined fighter. There are no strings tied to Mr. Eaton.

He has been and still is an outspoken opponent of the type of boss rule we have in Michigan. Several times he has introduced measures which might have paved the way for a political clean-up, only to have them killed in committee—or elsewhere.

But even the qualities mentioned above are not necessarily enough. A candidate for lieutenant governor must know plenty about the mechanics of legislative procedure and be well acquainted with the men who operate the legislative mill.

Mr. Eaton is particularly well-qualified in this respect. He is one of the two Republican representatives who have been elected from Wayne county since 1936. Even before that he gained a particularly good education in state government by serving four years as executive secretary to former-Governor Alex J. Groesbeck. He served fourteen years as managing and city editor of the Kalamazoo Telegraph-Press and was twice sheriff of Kalamazoo county and was president of the Michigan Association of Sheriffs, Prosecutors and Chiefs of Police.

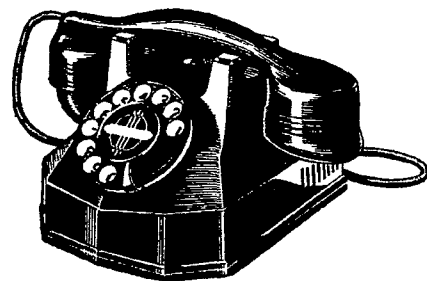

So Mr. Eaton, in addition to a successful career as an editor and publisher, has also had a thorough training in state government.

Mr. Eaton is not a "politician" type of individual. A politician tries to guess what the majority is going to do and then jumps that way. Individuals of the Eaton type come out for what they think is right, regardless.

It is this last mentioned type we need more of in our state government.—Hastings Banner.

Democratic Newspaper Supports Willkie

Lakewood, Ohio,
August 23, 1940
Mr. O. P. Schumann, Prop.
Crawford Avalanche,
Grayling, Mich.

Dear Mr. Schumann:

I have been reading your Avalanche for over thirty years as no doubt your records will show, and I would not be surprised to learn that I am your oldest regular subscriber.

Our Cleveland Plaindealer, the oldest paper in Northern Ohio, which has always been a Democratic paper, gave us a very interesting and most pleasant surprise a few days ago, and the thought occurred to me that it would be fine to repeat its editorial, which I am enclosing, in the Avalanche. Every Republican of this nation loves Senator Vandenberg, and he loves our Constitution and the Republican Party. This editorial made influence a new member of the Democracy to do what the Plain Dealer is doing.

With kind regards I am,
Yours very truly,

N. C. O'Leary,
Former Mayor of Lakewood.

An Editorial

The Plain Dealer supports Wendell L. Willkie for president of the United States.

We come to this decision with no regard either for party names or for political considerations. Rather, our decision is based on the best analysis we can make of the moral problem confronting the United States of America. We have reached this conclusion, which seems inevitable to us, with the regret which decent people feel about breaking old ties.

For close to a hundred years the Plain Dealer has refrained from supporting for president any other than Democratic candidates. We say this in no spirit of apology or boastfulness. On-occasions we were probably wrong.

Now for the first time we depart from this century-old Plain Dealer tradition. We recommend the defeat of a Democrat who is seeking a third term to the presidency.

If anyone doubts into this an act of desertion, we must that the result rests on the shoulders of Mr. Roosevelt and not on ours.

The Plain Dealer chooses to remain Democratic. The Roosevelt administration, by contrast, has abandoned the Democratic tradition. Jackson, Cleveland and Wilson.

The Plain Dealer enters the arena by the fact that the country should make social progress as fast as it can pay for it, whereas Mr. Roosevelt has attempted, not a liberal, but a radical goal. The only possible outcome of his policies, as we see it, is State Socialism, followed inevitably by some form of Fascism.

Under our system of government, if a sufficient majority can be obtained to amend the Constitution, in a given direction, America may adopt any form of government, known or to be known, by man.

But we should proceed frankly and openly to such basic changes as these and accomplish them in the democratic way, by popular proposals or candidly expressed initiatives. Never should we agree, if we hope to remain democrats, to a subtle and unacknowledged transformation of our state of society.

Eight years ago we supported Franklin D. Roosevelt with an undying enthusiasm. Four years ago we supported him with some misgivings. The course of events since then, culminating in the president's ill-disguised and successful maneuver for a third term nomination, forces upon us the conviction that we can no longer support the president whom this newspaper helped twice to elect.

The Democratic national platform of 1932 was liberal, forthright and courageous. Standing on that declaration of principles Gov. Roosevelt as a candidate for president was impregnable. Had the tenets of that platform been obeyed the United States would today be in a far better situation—financially, economically, politically—than it now is.

Every modern dictator the world has known first persuaded his countrymen that he was indispensable to their welfare.

America cannot afford to take the risk. No man in this still free republic is so wise, so strong, so exalted in character, or so finely tempered by experience, that the safety of the nation requires his retention in the presidency. America is not ripe for the advent of The Indispensable Man.

The Plain Dealer makes its choice without hesitation or qualification.

We solemnly urge the people to elect Wendell L. Willkie president of the United States.

PROMINENT SPEAKER TO ADDRESS KIWANISANS AT PORT HURON, SEPT. 7TH

Dr. Allen A. Stockdale, New York City, one of the most outstanding speakers in America, will deliver the address at the Kwanian Banquet at the Michigan Kwanian convention on Saturday evening September 7, 1940.

DR. ALLEN STOCKDALE

to be held at Hotel Harrington, Port Huron, Michigan. Dr. Stockdale comes from New York by plane especially for this engagement.

Allen Arthur Stockdale was born in Zanesville, Ohio. Graduate of Boston University, School of Theology, with Post Graduate work in Philosophy and Sociology. Resident student of Oxford University, England, 1922-23.

Has held pastorates in Boston, Mass., Toledo, Ohio, Chicago, Ill., and Washington, D. C. During his residence in Boston Dr. Stockdale was chaplain of the Emerson College of Oratory and is at present a trustee of Emerson College.

During the World War he served for six months in France as a Red Cross Field Director with Commission of Captain. He was with the Second Division near Soissons in July, 1918, at the opening of the big drive. Dr. Stockdale has been the author of many books of well known poetry. Was at one time editorial contributor to the "Plain Home Journal" and the "Congregationalist" and was formerly editor of the devotional magazine called the "Reveller."

Since November 1, 1937, Dr. Stockdale has been speaking exclusively for the National Manufacturers Association of America.

Nehi in 46 States, Hawaii, D. C.

With the recent opening of a new bottling plant in Honolulu, Hawaii, products manufactured by the NEHI Corporation, including ROYAL CROWN Cola, Pepsin-T-Pak and NEHI beverages, are now distributed in 46 states, the District of Columbia and the Hawaiian Islands. It is stated by H. R. Mott, president of the Corporation.

"Sound, aggressive merchandising and advertising, and a recognition of the strong appeal of quality products to the American consumer have been the strongest factors in the development of the company to its present position among the leaders in the soft drink industry. The company from which NEHI Corporation is an outgrowth was established 20 years ago. At present the Company's products are bottled by well over 400 individual plants, and it is responsible for the employment of more than 5,000 people.

Newspapers have played an important part in the Company's sharp sales increase for the current year. Advertisements are now appearing twice a week in more than 600 newspapers throughout the country. The campaign comprises 32 insertions.

is scheduled through mid-September."

Young Republicans Favor O. L. Smith

O. L. Smith, Detroit attorney, is getting my support and vote September 10 for the Republican nomination for Governor of Michigan because he is able; he is against boss rule in Michigan.

Smith's government; he was elected at ten, yet in spite of his struggles and put himself through college, and has become a substantial citizen of Michigan. He is the father of one daughter and one son, and knows and sympathizes with the problems of youth as well as those of old persons.

O. L. Smith all his life has fought evil; he is a Christian, a man, and he is young enough to put in the needed hours on the job in Lansing. O. L. Smith can and will lower taxes in Michigan because he is an able administrator; he will clean out the purchasing department of inefficiency, extravagance, and waste, and this alone can save Michigan taxpayers millions of dollars annually.

HOW MANY WINDSTORM LOSSES WILL THERE BE IN 1940?

It really makes little difference to our policyholders because we promptly pay their losses caused by windstorms. Do not delay—Get windstorm insurance from the nearest Michigan Mutual agent, or write the Home Office.
